Dear Parents,

Happy New Year! I am so excited and thankful for this new year. I am looking forward to all we still have to accomplish. Please keep praying for us and we will do the same for you.

Thank you for your great generosity this past December. I was overwhelmed with all your gifts and goodies, especially my classroom gifts. I was very blessed. Thank you for everything. I promise to use all it with great care and fun. I really appreciate all of you. Thank you so much!

January is filled with a lot of Science, yet we are enjoying it very much. Please ask your children what experiment has been their favorite. Our Science Night is fast approaching! On Wednesday, we will have our Language test for chapter 9.

I would like to invite you to a parent information meeting about our Gold Country Field Trip. We have scheduled it for Thursday, January 12, at 6:30 here in my classroom. We will have the application forms that night if you are interested in joining us in May. I also want to remind you that your account will be billed $29.00 in February, March, and April for your child's trip. It will be an amazing time to close our Social Study units. Your children are very excited and so are we!!! Please join us this coming Thursday.

Our second quarter ends this next Friday. This will be a minimum day for us. It is very important that my student's AR goals are reached. Please make sure they also keep reading as much as they can at home. We have been practicing our long division in math and I can see that practice is paying off. They were scared at first, but they are gaining confidence. I am so proud of them!

Again, I pray God blesses you as much as you have blessed me; which is a lot!

Thank you for being you and for teaching your children the way they should go.

Love,

Mrs. G.

Joy!!

This month's character trait is joy. I know my students are valuing and appreciating every circumstance. They are displaying great growth. I am very proud of them!
