Dear Parents,

Learning Corner

Bible: The class will continue to learn about making good choices this week. Specifically, we will discuss the choice of lying v. honesty.

Language: We are going to continue learning our special sounds. I will periodically be sending home papers for you to practice the special sounds at home. These papers do not need to be returned to class, but instead are meant to give you a tool to work with at home. When practicing special sounds at home, please make sure you are reminding your child to circle the special sounds and mark the vowels in words.

Math: The class will continue to review the concepts we have already learned, and go into depth to learn more. We will focus on counting by 10s and dimes.

Social Studies: Martin Luther King Jr. Day is coming up quickly, so we will begin to learn about him and why he is such an important person in our countries history. We will be doing some very cute "I have a dream..." activities.

Science: Science Fair is vastly approaching, so we will also begin learning about the Scientific Method.

PICTURES NEEDED

We will be learning about Community Helpers towards the end of this month and beginning of next month. I would love it if you could provide me with a picture of you at work. It does not matter to me if you are a homemaker, lawyer, or hairstylist. All are important and contribute to our community. The sooner you can get me a photo, the better! :) Thank you so much! Also, just a heads up, we will be have a Community Helpers Day Thursday, February 2nd. If you are interested in coming into the class and sharing about how you help the community, that would be greatly appreciated!

Not only do I need pictures of you, but I need a baby picture of your child, as well. These will be used in the Memory Books at the end of the year.

Other Needs

I need each child to bring in an empty toilet paper roll by Wednesday, Jan. 18th.
I also need more volunteers for reading centers. For various reasons, some parents are not available to help out anymore. If you would be willing, please let me know asap!
Thank you!
